COL. A. M. STOUT'S REPORT

Of the Battle of Chickamauga and the Part the Seventeenth Kentucky took in that fearful Contest.

HEADQUARTERS 17th Regt. Ky. Vols., CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Sept. 24, 1863.
 General - The following report of the operations of the regiment which I have the honor to command from the 18th inst., when your brigade left Crawfish Springs, Ga., to the 22nd inst., when my regiment rejoined the brigade at this place, is respectfully submitted:

You will recollect that on the evening of the 18th inst., we took position on the North bank of Chickamauga creek and held heavy skirmishing on our left flank the evening and next morning, until about the middle of the day. It became evident from the firing on the left, that the battle had begun in earnest, but from the change in the directions our forces were yielding ground. Then by your order we moved quickly to the scene of conflict near 2 miles distant; arrived there the brigade was formed in two lines; the 79th Ind. Vols. on the right in the first line, and the 17th Ohio Vols. on the left in the second line. The 17th Ohio Vols. on the left in the second line. The 17th Ohio Vols. on the left in the second line.

A few men of the 19th Ohio and 79th Ind. were also with my small command. By hard, determined fighting the enemy was held back until late in the evening, when a part of General Granger's command arrived and took position on our right and engaged the enemy just as he was about to turn our right. A desperate fight ensued and lasted until nearly dark. I must consider our little band on the crest as the most brilliant of the two days battle. Thousands of the enemy were there driven against us.

Col. Walker, of General Brannan's command; Col. George P. Buell, of the 58th Ind., commanding 1st brigade, 1st division, 2d A. C.; Lieut. Col. Stoughton, commanding 21st Ohio, and Major D. M. Claggett, of my own regiment, attracted my attention and excited my admiration by the fearless manner in which they encouraged and directed officers and men along our lines. Col. Walker had no command of his own. Col. Buell a very small one, but rendered great service to all commands by their advice and enthusiasm. Of my own regiment, I am unwilling to single out by name any company or men when all did so well during the two days battle. I cannot name one of them who acted badly. The men fought gallantly when they had any chance to fight, as I knew they would. While fighting for the rebel battery they stood without flinching under a most deadly fire. One company D, (Capt. Gist), of 41 men had eleven wounded.

We went into battle both days under great disadvantages. Each day we were thrown suddenly under fire to the support of troops who were being driven pell-mell over us by the enemy in superior numbers and flushed with success, and always outflanked. The firing having ceased at night on the 20th, not knowing where to find our own regiment, I reported to Brig. Gen. T. J. Wood, commanding 1st division, 2d A. C., who had moved his command to the rear through my lines. It was here that first Lieut. John D. Williams, a brilliant and gallant officer, was killed and Capt. J. W. Anthony was shot through the right hand. We fell back through a dense wood to a small open field of high ground, from which one of our batteries was playing upon the advancing enemy and those we ourselves confronted him in support of the battery. We, with the aid of others, succeeded in checking his advance in our front, but we had hardly time to become aware of this success before we felt the fire of the rebel battery upon our right and rear. Being again compelled to retire we pursued the same course as before until we reached a high and commanding ridge about one mile from the battle field, where the brigade formed again and we rested for the night. By seven o'clock on the morning of the 21st, we became aware that some of our troops had moved in our front at least a mile distant and had engaged the enemy. The firing in the distance and by 9 o'clock it became manifest that our forces were being driven. We were moved down the slope by the General's order in double column; the 19th Ohio on the right and the 79th Ind. on the left in the first line, the 8th Ky. on the right and the 17th Ky. on the left in the second line.

When we reached a road in the valley running parallel with our line we were quickly deployed into line of battle; the front line came at once under fire while the second line only about forty paces to the rear became almost exposed. The enemy in overwhelming numbers was advancing and firing rapidly and at the same time turning our right.

Our retreating forces in our front were running over us. We were between the enemy and open ground, while they were concealed by a dense cover of underbrush. The 19th Ohio soon broke to the left and rear across my right, while the shots of the enemy began to pour into my right and rear directly down the road. It was impossible then to change my front, for a battery of our artillery was passing through my line to the rear and the uproar was so great and the dust and smoke, so dense that the officers could scarcely be seen or heard. We were compelled to fall back or be captured, as we were without support. Here Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan received a shot through the leg while gallantly doing his duty and was carried off the field.

Sergeant Major Duncan was shot through both legs and was saved with the Major, Adjutant and color and about one hundred men. I moved to the left and rear, several times halting and firing a volley at the enemy, but in every instance our ranks were broken and we were forced to retreat. We were finally forced to retreat to the rear and then turning at right angle and marching westward. There we found fragments of various commands, including a portion of Gen. Brannan's Division. These were hastily formed along the crest and made preparation to hold the position

DEMOCRATS, do your duty and vote for Coleman.

W. D. COLEMAN is not a politician. He is a good, clever, warm-hearted man. Hurrah for Uncle Billy.

A prominent Republican of this place predicts that the Democrats will meet in Chicago and nominate McDonald, and the Republicans will meet in Cincinnati and nominate H. T. Lincoln, and Lincoln will be elected.

W. D. COLEMAN is a man fitted to make, and will make, a good Representative. He has done much hard work for the party, and every Democrat in the county should vote for him. Go to the polls and vote early.

GEN. TOM THOMAS the world-renowned little fellow, who paid the last debt of nature at his home, Middleboro, Massachusetts, on 15th of this month, was interred with military honors. Many thousands of friends and admirers followed his remains to the quiet city, where he now sleeps his last sleep.

REMEMBER, that the bonus paid annually to the monopolists by the labor of the country by reason of the gas-lamp tariff is $780,000,000. The interest on this sum at 6 per cent, is $46,800,000, and yet the Republicans say that a protective tariff is a blessing to the laboring man. W. D. Coleman as a "tariff for revenue only" man, and W. F. Rinder is a high protective tariff man. Voters, take your choice.

Boss TWEEK died in prison and Marsh T. Polk, defaulting treasurer of Tennessee, was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to the penitentiary for 20 years and a fine of $300,000 assessed against him, which his sureties will have to pay. The Star flowers, who catered together and swindled the Government out of millions of dollars, and Steve Dorsey, chief of the gang, is the Secretary of the National Republican Committee. We think we shall vote for Coleman.

If any man deserves the vote of his party it is W. D. Coleman. He has always been true to his principles, always worked for his party's candidate. He is a pure Christian gentleman and a man who will make a fair representative from the agricultural class. We think a legislature should be principally composed of farmers and mechanics, and a few honest, good lawyers. No farmer in the next House will command more influence and respect than W. D. Coleman. Come up to the polls next Monday and vote for him.

THE speech of Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn, at the Court House, Monday, was a masterly effort, and received the undivided attention of the large audience present. He replied to the charges of the Republican campaign against the Democratic party of Kentucky for financial mismanagement, and showed that Kentucky had been better managed and was in a better financial condition, with lighter burdens of taxation than any State in this broad land, and has $500,000 in assets to pay every dollar of liability. He then compared this with Republican extravagance and misrule in States where they had had control and in the National Administration. He is a very thin, logical speaker, and his effort here is pronounced the best made in the Court House for years.

THE Constitution of the United States, Sec. 8, par. 1, says: "The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imports and excises to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States." This Democratic party continues to mean that no more taxes or duties shall be levied and collected than is necessary to accomplish such purposes, or in other words, that Congress has power only to levy and collect such amount of taxes and duties as shall be sufficient to pay the debts as they mature and meet the expenses of the Government economically administered. The Republicans claim it gives Congress power to levy a high protective tariff. W. D. Coleman holds to the Democratic idea and W. F. Rinder is a high protective tariff Republican.

GEN. DON CARLOS REBEL and others are making a fight to have the charter of the Green and Harlan River Navigation Company repealed. The following petition is being circulated and will be at the several election precincts all over the Green River country for signatures. It should be signed by every voter:

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Your petitioners, citizens of the Green River Country, appeal again to your honorable bodies in the matter of the Green River Navigation, on which a tyrannical monopoly exists, under the charter of the Green and Harlan River Navigation Company.

The evil from which we seek relief is set forth in the petitions presented to the Legislature at former sessions, and to which we ask your serious attention. It comes from a charter which authorizes the corporation to charge exorbitant tolls, and at the same time to navigate, mine, manufacture and trade in every conceivable thing. It, therefore, operates on the people in three ways: 1. By the oppressive charges which the monopoly puts upon their necessities; 2. By absorbing their industries; and 3. By obstructing the improvement of the navigation on which the proper development of their natural resources depends.

In 1879 a survey of the waters of Green River was made under an Act of Congress, with a view to improvements which would have cost for a million or more of dollars from the general Government, but the object failed because, controlled by the official report, Green River was de facto closed to general commerce by the present monopoly.

At the evil of which we complain there has been no abatement, since it began, fifteen years ago; for a trifling reduction granted momentarily through fear in some item of freight, if such there may have been, constitutes no amelioration of the wrong which strikes at the very root of all prosperity, by rendering the natural resources of our country practically unavailable to the markets that require them. We ask you to reflect that the means thus used for the oppression of the people, is not a railroad or a canal built with the money of the corporation that enjoys it, but a highway provided by nature, and improved with the money of the people, and conveyed to the corporation by the charter referred to, as a free gift.

For the past three sessions the sentiment of the Legislature has been, like that of all impartial men, that this standing crime ought to cease, and in 1880 an act was passed to repeal the oppressive charter. A decision of the Court of Appeals has frustrated the purpose of that act, and left us still under the domination of the monopoly. We have submitted to the decree, but we protest that the control of the navigable waters of the State can have but one legitimate object—the use and benefit of the people. We have been deprived of this natural right without our consent, and we ask that it shall be restored in such manner as to you may seem fit, and as in duty bound, your petitioners will ever pray.

REMEMBER, that the bonus paid annually to the monopolists by the labor of the country by reason of the gas-lamp tariff is $780,000,000. The interest on this sum at 6 per cent, is $46,800,000, and yet the Republicans say that a protective tariff is a blessing to the laboring man. W. D. Coleman as a "tariff for revenue only" man, and W. F. Rinder is a high protective tariff man. Voters, take your choice.

To the Citizens of Hartford.

LEBANON, Ky., July 28, 1888.

We take pleasure in stating that Prof. T. M. Morning has been for the last four years engaged in teaching at Lebanon.

That four years ago he took charge of the Presbyterian School here which was at that time in a low condition, with probably not over twenty pupils in attendance; by his energy and perseverance he has succeeded in building up a healthy and prosperous school. Prof. Morning is diligent and faithful to his duties, and you will find him a gentleman in every sense, and a man to be trusted in any capacity; and above all, we take the greatest pleasure in recommending him as a Christian gentleman, ever faithful in the many duties devolving upon those who profess and live a Christian life.

We regret very much the necessity which calls Professor Morning and his interesting family away from us, but at the same time take pleasure in recommending him to you.

We also recommend him as a man eminently qualified to take charge of and conduct your school, a man of fine attainments and educated in all branches usually taught in Colleges.

Given under our hands as Trustees of the Presbyterian School at Lebanon, Ky.,

There is no use of paying $5 to $10 for a corn shelter. I have a patent Hand Corn Shelter that will supply the place of a costly shelter. I will send you my Improved Hand Shelter upon the market for sale at the very low price of $1. I now have a more thorough recommendation from those who have used it. Any person desiring a sample shelter, or who would like to purchase county, district or state rights, will please send one dollar by registered letter to my address, and I will immediately forward the shelter to the nearest railroad station with full instruction and price of such district.

County Rights—Kentucky will be sold at from $50 to $150, according to population, except Ohio County.

To the Teachers of Ohio County.

I earnestly solicit all the teachers of the county to attend the Institute to be held here August 13, 15, and 16, 1888, as has been announced in this paper. Those who desire to teach this fall will be required to attend the full three days. The object of the Institute is to devise plans to promote the educational interest of the county, and improve upon the present method of teaching. These are interests of too much importance to be neglected, and, although we may not accomplish all we desire, a full attendance and an earnest co-operation will enable us to make progress in that direction.

Those who now hold certificates of qualification will have the same revoked unless they attend the Institute. You may think this too rigid, but in looking over the list of those in attendance last year I find but 53 names out of 122 teachers needed; less than half being present.

It is the Institute is of no importance let us abandon it. If properly attended and conducted it is of vast importance, because each teacher thus gets the views, thoughts and methods of every other teacher in the county, and can profit thereby. Let each teacher come, not as a mere matter of form, but determined to make the meeting a success. Let no one ask to be excused from any duty requested of him, while it is impossible to call on each teacher in our programme; each one will be called upon during the session.

Now a word to the trustees of the county. You are earnestly solicited and expected to attend, and if you will honor us with your presence, the necessity of importance of your attendance will be explained. If the whole board can not come, let the chairman of each district be sure to attend. Hoping and expecting a full attendance, and that much good may be done for the cause of education, I am very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
F. L. FELIX, C. S. C. O. C.

Editor Herald:

I will now give a few notes taken on a trip to the Lone Star State: Passing through southern Indiana and Illinois, nothing of importance attracted my attention. Wheat at that time (April 20) was looking extremely poor, indeed, many farmers were turning under what was left preparatory for corn, though I am glad to report that many small fields that were planted in corn made a profitable crop, in fact, as high as twenty bushels per acre have been harvested from fields apparently bare the first of April. St. Louis, the fourth city in the Union, is too large for my one to take in, with only one day and a half. The Zoological garden has a very good selection of birds, animals and reptiles, but not equal to Cincinnati by any means. Yet they will tell the traveler that they have the largest selection in the United States. In going over the Iron Mountain and lead regions of Missouri I not only found this region of old valuable iron and lead ore, but there is an industry carried on that is an open admitted fraud. This fraud consists of a penurious white rock that is mined in these mountains, and sent to St. Louis by the car load. The writer asked the miners what was done with this sort of rock, and received this reply: "This earth is used to adulterate at least one hundred and fifty articles of commerce, such as quinine, morphine, white lead, chalk, flour, butter, and in fact any thing you can think of that is worth more than dirt." So you see that this fraud is gigantic, to say the least of it. Arkansas is all broken up along the lines of new railroads. I was told by an old settler "that the people of that country were all going to be—as fast as they could." Upon inquiry the old man said, "Why, people are getting so—as fast as they can." I don't believe it. I don't believe that a man can't go out on Sunday and kill a mess of quail or catch a few fish without some person talking about it, and they have Sunday schools and prayer meetings and such, it wasn't that way when I was a boy, and I lay it all to these damned railroads, too." Arkansas along this railroad is about half water, and as a natural consequence the other half is all mud. With the exception of a few miles near Little Rock the entire country would make first class frog farms. I am well satisfied the Arkansas frog can croak the loudest and longest, the earliest and the latest of any frog in the known world; they will follow as loud as any ordinary three-year-old, and I would that "many of them" would weigh twenty-five pounds, and that they would not be so common. —Some unprincipled dealers, because they could see a few cents more profit, have been guilty of offering worthless substitutes for the only original and genuine Sulphur Soap—Glen's by name. Therefore, the public should guard against this deception, and always ask for Glen's Sulphur Soap, by its full name, and take no other. Read the following evidence from a highly respectable source: C. N. CURTERTON, Esq. Dear Sir—I have traveled for three years for Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers, New York, and desire to inform you that I have used your inimitable Glen's Sulphur Soap extensively for about four years; also have recommended it to very many persons; my constant experience has been that it possesses all the medicinal advantages that you claim for it. All to whom I have recommended it say as well as myself, that it deserves its established reputation as the best and most efficacious Sulphur Soap that can be used for all skin cleansing, as well as toilet purposes. Some unprincipled druggists have endeavored to substitute other kinds of Sulphur Soap for Glen's—saying they were just as good, but having myself tried other kinds, I find NONE so good or so beneficial as the genuine Sulphur Soap, stamped "GLEN'S," of C. N. CURTERTON, Proprietor, on the packet.

Yours, truly, C. T. Z. DURAND.

But if you want a bill of goods cheaper than you ever bought them before, try present reduced prices at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Last Saturday about the close of the barbeque, Joe McGee, Toke Ashford and Tom Bryant, Jr., having imbibed too much "red water," got into a difficulty. Sheriff Smith and Marshal Greenwood went to arrest them when a general melee ensued, in which a pistol was fired and a knife drawn. The parties were brought before Judge O'Fallon, who sentenced McGee and Bryant to a set-to resulting in McGee cutting Bryant on the hand with a knife. McGee went to jail and the other two gave bond for their appearance Monday.

Their trial came on Monday and McGee was held for carrying concealed weapons, and the other two were tried for breach of the peace, but the amount of fine is under advisement of the Judge.

A Grand Hop.
Will be given at the new depot on C. O. and S. W. R. R. in Beaver Dam to-night. A band of excellent musicians have been secured and a large and select company have been invited. Thanks to Mr. G. T. Oliver for an invitation.

Last Friday evening Mr. S. W. Anderson's residence was the center of attraction in Hartford. The lawn was brilliantly lighted with Chinese lanterns artistically arranged and the foliage of the trees. The archway at the main entrance was festooned with evergreens and lighted with lanterns, sending a flood of welcoming light into the street to greet the friends assembling at this attractive home, as beautiful as a poet's dream.

When we arrived, the lawn, veranda, hall, house and every where was a living, moving mass of bright and happy humanity.

The night was cloudy, not a star to be seen, which added to the grand display of fire-works, the most beautiful and brilliant we ever witnessed. They sent up jets of sparks fifty or sixty feet; some presented the most gorgeous sunflowers. Roman candles would send balls of fire to a distance so great that they would be lost to the natural eye, then to the last send forth a shower of meteors that would form the great dipper. Some of the works would make the most vivid flashes of lightning accompanied by muttering of deep thunder. They had a balloon fish, and when inflated represented the immense fish that frequented the waters when Nancy Jane Jones was a girl. It was indeed mammoth and beautiful to behold.

Miss Nora sent Mrs. Nancy Jane Jones an invitation to be present, and to the great astonishment of all, the veritable Mrs. Jones, from Peavie Ridge was there. To say that she was the center of attraction for a few minutes, is scarcely forcible enough. The crowd around her was so dense that she almost "spilt" her Turkey fan making her cap-bowder flap up and down, revealing her hair, which was almost white. We will attempt a slight description of her personal appearance. She is quite old looking; rather angular in features but exceedingly sprightly in her movement. She wore a large flowered silk berage dress, made in the height of the fashion twenty-five years ago, very full and ruffled to the waist; flowing sleeves, with very short waist and many belt some four inches wide, a very wide and elegant old-fashioned ribbon spread out to keep from pinching up around the neck and wrinkling her apron was fitted, with little black specks. She wore a black silk bonnet shirred; it fitted very much and tapered back quite small; it had a wreath of lily leaves that fell over her cap-bowder.

It was more modern than her dress. One young lady expressed her admiration, she was told by Mrs. Jones that she had "wore her bonnet high on to sixteen years" that she "grewed the lilies in her garden." She had her "riticule" with "pipe and tobacco" which completed her costume.

Our readers are all familiar with her style of talking; she was having a fine time answering the many questions by the eager throng, when some fireworks went up and "hit" several there powerfully, which caused her to faint and fall over, and you never seen a crowd scatter out to get "comfired."

The elegant refreshments were served on handsomely ornamented tables under the trees. The little ones all served first, then the host offered his arm and escorted Mrs. "Nancy Jane Jones" to a prominent seat, where she had the pleasure of eating with some "powerful party guests" that had waited for her, and waited on her so nicely. Then the balloon ascension; we never saw anything more up more graceful than it did, going higher and higher, until it appeared as a brilliant star; then moved northward and went down as the North Star. Not even the few little ones grew tired or thought of the lateness of the hour until reminded by their chaperones that it was several hours past their sleeping time. During the entire evening, with its many hours of fleeting pleasures and happiness, not a pebble was cast to cause a rattle to pass over the calm, quiet lake of enjoyment. Little Miss Nora, to whom we are indebted for this evening of unalloyed pleasure, is a born little lady, and nothing could exemplify it so much as her marked courtesies to old Mrs. Nancy Jane Jones.

No family should be without ALCOCK'S PLEASANT PLASTER; their healing powers are wonderful and their efficacy far reaching and lasting. For years past I have seen and known them to cure and relieve the most obstinate and distressing cases of rheumatism, kidney complaints, bronchitis, neuralgia, lumbago, inflammation of the lungs and throat, paralysis, asthma, spinal weakness and conglis and colds. In my own case they have afforded me almost instant and permanent relief. My friends consider them an invaluable and speedy remedy for all kinds of aches and pains. They are a blessing in disguise; and no wife or mother should be without them if she values her peace and comfort and freedom from exhaustion and other ailments. As a strengthening plaster, also for backaches and weaknesses, they have no equal. I have never yet found a plaster so efficacious and stimulating, or to give so much general satisfaction. Used in connection with BRANDRETT'S universal life-giving and life-healing PILLS no one need despair of a speedy restoration to good sound health.
